Bullets Strike Office Of Appalachian Group

Unknown persons early Tuesday morning fired several bullets into the High Street office of the Appalachian Committee For Full Employment and the Airport Gardens home of Jason Combs, a vice president of the Committee.

No one was injured in the shooting but Combs said he and his wife were sleeping in the path of a bullet that was stopped by a piece of furniture.

City Police Chief Sam "Bud" Luttrell said five bullets struck the Committee office about two or two thirty a.m. Tuesday. County Sheriff Charlie Combs, no relation to Jason, found six holes in the latter's house, and three spent bullets.

Sheriff Combs said indications were that two weapons were used in the shooting. Jason Combs' neighbors said they saw two cars leaving the scene of the Airport Gardens shooting right after the shots were fired.

Everett Tharp, Christopher, a secretary for the Appalachian Committee, charged that the Tuesday shooting follows a campaign of general intimidation against Committee workers that has been going on for several months.

Roads Affected By Appalachian Bill

A main reason Congressman Carl D. Perkins has asked President Johnson to re-convene Congress to pass the Appalachian Bill is the road network illustrated above. Outlined in heavy black are Eastern Ky. highways that were scheduled for improvements had the Appalachian Bill cleared Congress. See today's editorial page for further comment on these roads.

Ralph Wells Is Promoted To Works Supervisor

Ralph E. Wells, 52, has been appointed as works project supervisor for the nine-county Eastern Kentucky program for unemployed parents which is conducted by the State Department of Economic Security.

Wells, who will move to Frankfort from Hazard to assume the job, has been district supervisor for the Economic Security Department's public assistance programs in Perry and Letcher counties since June 1961. Wells' salary will be $7,344 yearly.

Economic Security Commissioner Earle V. Powell said that

Ralph Wells

Wells succeeds J. Sneed Yeager, who recently resigned to accept a position as construction superintendent with the State Highway Department. Wells will be responsible to Public Assistance Director Aaron Paul.

The Eastern Kentucky project began with seven counties in January of this year, including Pike, Floyd, Breathitt, Knott, Perry, Letcher, and Leslie, with Harlan and Bell counties being added in March.

Powell said Wells has become thoroughly familiar with the operation of the unemployed parent project in Perry and Letcher as district supervisor.

Wells has been at work in the State public assistance program since December 1952, when he began as a field worker in Breathitt County. He and Mrs. Wells, the former Allene Patton are natives of Wolfe County.

Before his employment with State Government Wells served as a radio operator in the U. S. Air Corps in the European theatre during World War II

Perkins Urges LBJ To Re-Call Congress On Appalachian Bill

Seventh District Congressman Carl D. Perkins said yesterday he has written a letter to President Johnson urging him to re-convene the 88th Congress so that the Appalachian Bill can be revived and passed.

Congress adjourned last week while the bill was still under discussion in the House of Representatives. It had already been overwhelmingly approved by the Senate by a vote of 45-13.

In Hazard yesterday to campaign for re-election to his House seat, Perkins made it plain in an interview that he is confident the bill will eventually pass.

"But I hate to see an important project like this one delayed," he said, "I resisted adjournment of Congress because of this bill."

Perkins said absenteeism of Congressmen, who were home campaigning, was the primary reason the Appalachian Bill did not come to a vote in the House.

If the Congress is not re-convened before the end of the year, the Bill will have to begin all over again its long and hazardous journey through committee hearings and the involved give-and-take process that characterizes most federal legislation.

"But the bill is not dead by any means," Perkins said. "I'm very confident" of its eventual passage.

The Appalachian Bill is a $1 billion, five-year reconstruction program that features a vast

Coal Production Indicates Rise Of 3.29% Over 1963

Coal production in the Hazard Field amounted to 223,890 tons during the week ended September 26, 1964 bringing the total for the year to date to 5,424,980 tons.

In announcing the figures, the Hazard Coal Coal Operators Association said the week's production was 16.69 per cent above the 191,860 tons mined during the corresponding week last year. Production for the year to date indicates an increase of 3.29 per cent over the 5,242,030 tons.

Tonnages are computed on a 50 tons per car basis and are subject to adjustment.

UK Sets Up Area Youth Agency Here

Jack Niece

The Perry County Agriculture Extension Office in the Hazard Post Office building is headquarters for a new agency sponsored by the University of Kentucky, designed to work with the youth of Perry, Leslie, Knott and Letcher Counties.

The Area Youth Development Agent is Jack Niece, a Letcher County native and UK graduate who last year was employed by the Hindman Settlement School.

Niece is the first such agent in Kentucky.

Niece's job will be to help develop the youth of the four-county area by acting as supervisor and coordinator of social, educational, religious, recreational, cultural and other types of community activities.

On the job about a month so far, most of Niece's activities have been organizational in nature, making plans for his program and contacting community leaders he expects to work with in the future.

A main ambition of the UK extension, according to Niece, is the development of youth centers in as many communities as possible.

Such centers could be a medium through which a wide variety of youth needs could be met, he says, listing as examples a place for social gatherings, club headquarters, film-showings and the like.

Another function of the Youth Development Agent, as Niece defines his job, is to serve as a liaison between a community and any youth organization it would like to organize.

He is available upon request from any school or other established community institution to help set up programs and workshops that could explore such topics as school dropouts and career opportunities.

Recreation for mountain young people is another prime concern of the new agency, Niece says. One ambition is the establishment of county and sub-county recreation workshops where organization leaders could learn recreation leadership and pass it on to club members.

In keeping with this aim, Niece says a program of summer recreation for the more rural communities of the area is now in the making.

Possibilities are also being explored by the new UK extension of a series of camps at the London 4-H Center which area young people might attend.

Niece has invited all schools, churches and community organizations who may be interested in what his new agency has to offer to write to him, c/o Jack D. Niece, Area Youth Development Agent, Post Office Building, Hazard, Kentucky.

Cleon Smith Drops Out Of District 3 County Board Of Education Race

Cleon Smith of Ary has cancelled out of the District 3 race for the Perry County School Board and thrown his support to Norman Smith of Bulan.

Cleon Smith's withdrawal narrows the race in that district to only two candidates as Norman challenges incumbent J. B. Hurd.

Absentee ballots — 171 of them — had already been printed and mailed before Cleon Smith withdrew as a candidate, but his name will not appear on the local ballots and voting machines.

Running for President this year, in addition to Lyndon B. Johnson and Barry Goldwater, is John Kasper, representing the National States' Rights Party.

The new party's vice presidential candidate, opposing Hubert Humphrey and William Miller, is J. B. Stoner.

Democratic nominee for 7th District Congressman is the incumbent Carl D. Perkins. Challenging him is Republican Walter Clay VanHoose. District 1 candidates for the Perry County School Board are H. C. Sparks of Buckhorn, and Wm. G. (Bill) Campbell, also of Buckhorn.

Running for school office in District 2 are Delmer Couch and Matt Couch trying to unseat Paul Campbell. And District 3 is the site of the Norman Smith-J. B. Hurd battle.

City voters will choose three of the following four candidates for the Hazard Independent Board of Education: Willis W. Reeves, Dr. Cooley L. Combs, Paul H. Petrey or Moscoe Blackburn.

City voters will also find on their ballots this year the yes or no question: "Are you in favor of the North Main Urban Renewal Project, No. Kentucky R-49?"

Hazard Kiwanians Sponsors Delegates To District Convention at Nashville

The Hazard Kiwanis Club sponsored and sent three delegates, George Pendleton, I. A. Bowles and Lieutenant Governor Raymond Roberson, to the Kiwanis District Convention at Nashville, Tennessee the latter part of September.

The three delegates addressed the regular meeting at Don's Restaurant on last Tuesday night. Kiwanian Pendleton gave a description of the convention and mentioned that Kentucky and Tennessee alternate on furnishing the governor and Lieutenant Governor. There were 255 delegates from 113 clubs at the meeting.

Governor Marvin Music from Prestonsburg, Kentucky, presided at the meeting at Nashville. Alex Schaefer of Knoxville, Tenn., was the newly elected governor and Raymond Roberson of Hazard was elected Lieutenant Governor for this Tennessee District.

I. A. Bowles elaborated some more on the convention and told some jokes he had learned at the meeting. He was followed by the new Lieutenant Governor, Raymond Roberson, who was recognized by the members of the local Club. He gave an interesting expression of his thanks and appreciation for the office. Last year E. T. Kash of Beattyville, Kentucky, was the Lieutenant Governor for this Division.

George Pendleton was the program chairman.

The following visitors from Dilce Combs Key Club were present: Paul Taulbee, President, Ronnie Browning, Ronnie Reynolds, Dannie Combs, Dean Little and Lynn Caudill.

The president of the Key Club invited the Hazard Kiwanis Club and Napier Key Club to a banquet at Dilce Combs Key Club meeting at their school on next Tuesday, October 6th.

Glenn Richards, Manager of Newberry's Department Store was a visitor and Mrs. Glenn

Bill Ivey In Management Seminar

Bill Ivey, assistant manager of the Interstate Finance office at 157 Main Street here in Hazard, is participating in a Management Development Seminar conducted by the company at Evansville (Indiana) College this week.

According to Branch Manager, Dan Maggard, 28 men from the company's 206 branch offices in 18 states from coast to coast were selected for this advanced training group after having completed the company's regular Career Progression Training Program.

The week-long sessions on the campus of Evansville College in the firm's headquarters city are being conducted by members of the College faculty and Interstate's executive and operating staff. The seminar embraces such subjects as personal development, human relations, public speaking, leadership and management responsibilities, customer service, and advertising and operating techniques in the consumer finance business. Mr. Bill Ivey will participate directly in case studies of personal and management problems.

Reynolds, Librarian for the Bobby Davis Library visited the meeting and announced the plan for a drive to raise funds for the library and book mobile program and both the Kiwanis Club and the Key Club volunteered for service.

"The company's Career Progression Training Program, as well as the advanced training seminars, are designed to prepare the individual for managerial responsibilities," said Manager Maggard. "As new managerial vacancies occur, we then have trained people to handle the responsibilities of managing a branch office and giving sound and practical advice on money matters to our customer."

According to Mr. Maggard, promotions and expansion of the 44 year-old consumer financing firm continually create training program vacancies for qualified men.

Group of Doctors, Nurses, Technicians Work With Perry Staff and Auxiliaries

The County Health Department has been the site of a three week hunt for public enemies. These include (1) draining ears that can lead to deafness, (2) squinted eyes that prohibit good vision, (3) underweight which can indicate more serious disorders, and (4) thin blood that can be caused by parasites or bleeding disorders.

These culprits are being pinpointed so that Perry County physicians and nurses can blot out disorders that keep our first-graders from normal health and full use of school.

An outside group of 15 public health doctors, nurses, and technicians have worked here along with the Perry County staff and 20 auxiliaries. The auxiliaries are past Health Department volunteers who are on salary during the screening dates.

The joint state-federal project originated as the Community Services Act of 1961. The Perry County Board of Health was consulted and gave its approval last spring. Fifteen of eighteen counties in the area will have been visited by January.

Every morning during this 3 weeks period one hundred and twenty first-graders and parents are delivered to the Health Department. The Superintendent of county schools was contracted to supply drivers and buses. With the school system's knowledge of roads, people from all parts of the county were driven to the Department. Three health measurements including height and weight, vision and hearing tests, blood and urine exams, medical history and physical exam, dental exam, and x-rays were taken. Immunizations were brought up to date.

For some children this was a routine examination. For others, it offered needed medical attention. Wherever disorders appeared, they were referred to local medical practitioners. Preventive medicine, the use of modern knowledge to promote health and prevent disease and disability was always promoted. Personal hygiene and home sanitation was urged.

Seems that Hazard is going to be a busy place this weekend with U.K.R.E.A. group here for their annual meeting. Welcome, folks, it's a pleasure to have you here.

We were honored by a visit from our Congressman, Carl D. Perkins, Wednesday. This fine man has been of great help to our region since he has been in office, and it's always a pleasure to have him visit us.

Another of our nice businessmen is in the hospital this week. Elmer Davis was taken to the Mount Mary Hospital Tuesday. Remember the get-well cards, folks. By the way, reports are that Mr. Elmer Roll will be released from the Appalachian Regional Hospital in about two weeks, and Mayor Dawahare is still improving.

Mr. Elmer Holliday, of Perry Farm Center, reports that he and his wife have just returned from a week's visit to the World's Fair in New York City. They went with about 300 other GE Appliance Dealers and really had an enjoyable week. Oh, well, maybe we'll get to visit the Fair next year. At least, we're hoping!

The crowning of Homecoming Queen at Hazard's game next week promises to be quite an event. Elsewhere on the page are pictures of each of the candidates, and we must say that they are all mighty pretty girls. In closing we would like to wish Happy Birthday to the following people: Thursday—Edna Carroll, Kenny Brashear, Deidra Nicholson; Friday—George Pendleton, Johnny Mayfield, Richard Sturgill, Tammy Sue Schodellaro, Tammie Lou Combs, Betty Merton, Nell Cooper.

The thought was presented very forcibly by Mrs. Eblen, as to how our attitudes and teachings are presented to our children that they in turn might cope with sharing basic freedom, for love and hate begin in the home. She closed by saying the task before us as Christians is immense but that God's grace is sufficient for the task.

Delicious refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. Sam Franklin, Mrs. Gene Combs, Mrs. Clyde Leveridge, Mrs. Floyd Hurst, Mrs. Drew Faulkner, Mrs. A. N. Peters, Mrs. C. A. Noble, Sr., Mrs. M. K. Eblen, Mrs. K. K. Davis, Mrs. Hence Colwell, Mrs. N. L. Adams, Miss Elizabeth Metcalfe, and the hostess, Mrs. Tom Kelly.

GLOMAWR

Couch Baby Home From Hospital; Car Wreck At Glomawr Injures Child

By Mrs. Sam Ferguson

The Rev. Larry Kennon returned to his home in Bristol, Tenn., after holding a week's revival at Community Presbyterian Church in Lothair.

Dr. Carl Jingle and family, of Michigan, visited with us Sunday morning at Sunday School and showed some interesting slides of Peru.

Freeman Ritchie had a car wreck here at Glomawr Sunday morning. His small child fell against his arm, causing him to lose control of the steering wheel. The car rolled over an embankment and on to the railroad track. Tommy Suttles was in the car. We haven't heard the particulars, but we did hear that Mr. Suttles sustained a broken arm and the child a broken back.

Mrs. Anna Williams has a sprained foot as the result of a fall.

Mrs. Thelma (Hatfield) Couch, finally brought her baby home from the hospital last week. It was born premature, September 12, and weighed 2½ lbs. It now weighs 5½ lbs.

Lamar Ritchie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jody Ritchie, has been ill at his home.

Patrick, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Brashear, fell on a broken jar and cut his leg pretty bad last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Helton, Patty Helton and Eddie Brown were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Brashear, Sunday evening.

Radioman Frank Sizemore and Bill Joe Harper, stationed at Norfolk, visited their families here the past weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Campbell, of Newport, are visiting their families, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Farris, of Second Creek, and Mrs. Florence Campbell and Margaret Harper. They will be here until the strike is settled at General Motors.

Mrs. Dosha McIntosh was removed from a hospital in Maryland to the home of a sister, Mrs. Brown Campbell, last week. She is suffering from cancer.

The 17th, commanded by Colonel G. H. Fulcher, has received 10 top honors in recent months, including the USAF Missile Safety and the USAF Outstanding Maintenance Achievement awards for the year. It also has been acclaimed for having the best KC-135 aerial tanker unit in SAC and the best B-52 jet bomber squadron in SAC's Eighth Air Force. The wing also has earned the SAC Three-Year Hall of Fame Certificate for flying safety.

High Waters Cover Grapevine Bridge

By Joy LaVonne Bowling

Due to heavy rains and high water, the children and teachers from Krypton, could not get to school at Buckhorn and Chavies Monday. Also, the water was over the Grapevine bridge and Bill Napier could not get out to teach at Buckhorn.

Mr. Cecil Hamblin, who is employed in Chicago, is here visiting his wife and children.

Ann Sharon Gross, who attends Lee's College, at Jackson, came home Saturday and went back Sunday evening.

This Saturday and Sunday, October 10 and 11, is Old Regular Baptist meeting time again at the Baptist Church at Chavies.

Mrs. Liza Combs, who has been sick for about three weeks, is recuperating at her home here and has a lady staying with her.

We were all glad to see the rains this past week as the wells were so low and everything was dry.

We were all sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. June Cassinelli who lived here several years ago. She will be remembered as June Combs, the daughter of John and Clara Combs. She had many relatives and friends in this vicinity.

A. J. C. Stidham SAC Member

Q—How can I make sure I will be buried in a National Cemetery?

A—Make your desire to have this done known to your next of kin or best friend. Wheat, barley, and rye straw are that are best material for mulching. Sawdust can also be used. Place bales of straw in field in October, break open to let rains germinate weed seed. Apply mulch to strawberries in early December. If mulch is applied over whole area use about 3000 lbs. per acre. If applied over the row the straw should be about 1 1/2 inches deep-looking through the mulch from directly above one should be able to slightly see the foliage. If sawdust is used apply about one inch deep.

Fall Tree Fruit Program

The hiding and breeding places for diseases and insects should be removed. The orchard should be mowed and raked. All fruit should be removed from trees and ground. Apple trees that initiate bitter rot should be cut and burned. You should check trees that defoliate early and try to determine cause—nutrient deficiency, scale, mites, mouse damage, mechanical damage, etc.

Mouse Control in Fruit Orchard

Clean an area around the tree 4 feet in diameter. Place diced apples or carrots, zinc phosphide treated, in runways or under slabs of styrofoam treated grain. Both materials can be obtained from — U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, North Carolina State College, Raleigh, N.C. Treated grain can also be obtained from—G. C. Oederkirk, Federal Rodent Control, Agricultural Experiment Station, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

Fall Soil Tests Best

Fall soil testing has the edge over spring testing in several ways. Farmers who have soil test results available in the fall will have all winter to plan next season's fertilizer program. Having enough time to plan can often mean the difference between a successful fertilizer program and a poor one. There's another important advantage, too. If the soil test indicates a need for lime, autumn is the ideal time to apply it. Lime added in the fall has time to begin its beneficial reaction with the soil before the spring planting season. Fall applications of fertilizer also are good, especially where the soil needs phosphate and potash to build its crop-yielding level.

Appalachia Multiple Screening Program Completed

The Appalachia Multiple Screening Program, which provided physical and dental examinations for Perry County's first grade school children and their parents, was completed at the Perry County Health Department on October 1st.

A total of 1320 people received the services of this health screening program—892 children and 428 adults. Health Department figures show that 95% of the first grade enrollees of the county received the examinations.

The offering of this service took the coordinated effort of many people from the federal, state and local levels. As indicated from the high rate of attendance, the effort was very successful in Perry County.

Lyndon F. Combs, M.D., Health Officer of Perry County, says that the contribution made by the people of Perry County to the program's success is recognized and appreciated. On behalf of U. S. Public Health Service, the State Department of Health, and the Perry County Health Department staff, Dr. Combs publicly expresses appreciation to all local agencies, concerns and individuals who helped. He says that it is impossible to know and name all who helped, but that some of the outstanding contributors were: Perry County School System, Hazard City Schools, WKIC Radio Station, The Hazard Herald, The Hazard City Manager's Office and the Police Department, and those citizens of set-up and as bus drivers.

Hindman Student In Semifinalists Merit Scholarship Competition

Principal Vesper Singleton of Hindman High announced today that one of the school's students has been named Semifinalist in the 1964-65 Merit Scholarship competition.

He said they became Semifinalists through their outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. This test of educational development was given in more than 17,000 high schools last March.

The student cited for her high achievement is Mary Francis Parke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Parke, of Brinkley, Kentucky.

They are among 14,000 seniors throughout the country who attained Semifinalist status. The Semifinalist group is composed of the highest scoring students in each state and in United States territories. Each Semifinalist now moves a step closer to winning a four-year Merit Scholarship to the college of his choice. Semifinalists must substantiate their qualifying test performance on a second examination, be endorsed by their schools, and fulfill certain routine requirements to become Finalists. All Merit Scholars are selected from the Finalist group.

"Semifinalists are representative of our country's most intellectually able young people," said John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

"They possess the talents and qualities necessary for leadership in the future. They are resourceful, hard-working, and ambitious."

"In honoring them for their attainments, we should recognize also that others have contributed significantly to their success by encouraging the characteristics which produce high achievement. The Semifinalists thus bring honor not only to themselves, but also to their families, their teachers, and their communities."

ARH Operates Ten Hospitals

Appalachian Regional Hospitals is a non-profit, non-sectarian corporation operating 10 community hospitals in a mountain area of Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

ARH was founded in 1963 as a fully autonomous organization headed by a board of trustees from six states.

The ARH trustees hold and administer the ten hospitals in trust for the people of the communities where the facilities are located. Hospital Advisory councils, composed of outstanding leaders of the community, assist the administrator of each hospital. No other corporation or agency either owns or exercises a controlling interest in ARH.

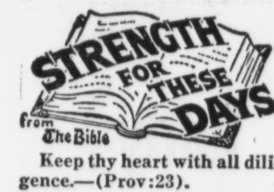

They were the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., performing what it called "an act of conscience," and the Commonwealth of Kentucky, which was especially concerned for Kentuckians who depended upon the hospitals. Together they sponsored the incorporation of Appalachian Regional Hospitals.

We Must Avoid Violence

According to City and County law enforcement officials, several bullets were fired Monday night into the High Street office of the Appalachian Committee For Full Employment and the home of Jason Combs, a Perry County resident who has been active with the Committee.

In the cowardly fashion of those who normally perpetrate such primitive, uncivilized actions, the shots were fired in the dead of night, probably from a moving car. Fortunately, no one was injured.

But the fact that no one was hurt does not make it easier to condone the shootings. Regardless of one's personal feelings about the Appalachian Committee, responsible citizens of this community are obliged to feel the same sense of outrage against this breach of law and order as they would against any other crime.

The Appalachian Committee For Full Employment is not welcome in Hazard by the great majority of people. To most of the community, the Committee has yet to prove that its purpose here is not hostile. The general feeling is that the Committee is here only to antagonize, to "stir up trouble" among the unemployed in the county, and that if this is not its purpose it hasn't tried very hard to make clear just what its purpose is. Most of the community resents the presence of "outsiders" who, if their motives are as humanitarian as they claim, ought to find an abundance of need for their help in their own home towns.

But in spite of the consensus of local opinion against the Committee, violence against it cannot be condoned. Shooting into its office and homes of its members is a violation of our laws, both statutory and moral, and such a descent into depravity only aggravates an already-tense situation.

This newspaper stood firm against the violence that resulted from the activities of the roving pickets in 1962 and 1963. It condemns this latest violence with equal disgust.

We must maintain a community governed by our laws and not by individual, heated passions. If the Appalachian Committee breaks our statutory laws, then our enforcement officials will deal with it promptly. We can have confidence in that. Perry County doesn't need a Ku Klux Klan or band of night-riders to oppose a few outsiders in its midst. The good sense of our people will, in time, oppose them effectively, as historically they have always done. In the meantime, law and order must be maintained, for everyone.

Hire The Handicapped!

October 4-10 has been proclaimed by Governor Edward T. (Ned) Breathitt as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week in Kentucky.

This is the 20th observance of an historic event, first proclaimed by President Truman in 1945, when the nation awaited the demobilization of 15 million men and women from the Armed Forces. Many were combat veterans with war disabilities to whom the nation felt a special moral obligation.

In the past two decades all across the nation and in all manner of jobs, handicapped workers have piled up a record of great accomplishment which more than justifies the confidence that management has placed in them.

To hire the handicapped is sound business because these workers meet and often exceed production records, attendance and safety records. As a group, they also have a lower turnover or quit-rate than many able-bodied.

With each passing year there is a greater need and broader opportunity for the handicapped. Automation and the rapidly changing nature of today's jobs offers employers new incentives to make use of the special skills which the handicapped are learning in modern vocational rehabilitation.

Actually, the number of jobs that require the unimpaired faculty, the all-around jack-of-all-trades, robust type are disappearing so fast that the greater handicapped is experienced by the able-bodied worker in his search for unskilled occupations. The demands of today's job are for the qualities of the human spirit rather than for the strength of body.

Salute To A Great Lady

It was our good fortune and privilege Saturday to visit Hyden and meet a great and beloved lady—Mrs. Mary Breckinridge. Her work as a great benefactor and humanitarian has been indelibly engraved in the hearts of thousands of our mountain people through her work with the Frontier Nursing Service—a service that has been a guiding light in service to our fellow man.

We felt proud to be among those who acclaim Mrs. Breckinridge and hear words of highest praise from the small and the great paying tribute to her great and colorful career.

In Mrs. Breckinridge's brief remarks in person to the friendly gathering, she said: "I'm in my 80's—all I want to do is thank you very, very much—I am happy and I want to go on thanking you and I thank the Lord, too, God Bless You, everyone."

Bill Back Tells His Side Of School Controversy In Letter To Editor

Teacher vs. School Superintendent

TO THE EDITOR:

School Superintendent Dennis Wooton stated in the September 10th issue of The Hazard Herald that I, Bill Back, was transferred to another school at the request of several Jeff residents. It is my honest opinion that these Jeff residents that Mr. Wooton referred to can be counted on one hand and probably with fingers to spare.

Mr. Wooton also said that I knew why I was being removed and he used the incident which occurred as the reason for my being removed. People of Perry County, I want you to know the truth about this. I talked to Superintendent Wooton about this incident and explained to him just what had taken place. I then asked him if this would affect my status at Dilce Combs High School and he replied, "No Bill, I am not holding this against you, this could have happened to anyone."

Why did Mr. Wooton tell me that he was not holding this incident against me and then write what he did to The Hazard Herald?

Mr. Wooton was also wondering about my professional capabilities. He said that I did not give him the two weeks notice required by law. Then he asked the question, "Is that professional?" Ladies and gentlemen I wonder if Mr. Wooton was being professional when I went to him three times trying to get an answer concerning my status at Dilce Combs High School and each time all he could say was "No Bill, I haven't decided yet."

Yes, I did accept the teaching position in the Leatherwood High School. Why? Listen and I will tell you why: I was not hired at the time all degree teachers were supposed to have been hired. Board member Dacker Combs wanted and asked the board to rehire me at the meeting and Mr. Wooton refused. I finally received a contract on or around the 10th of June. This contract had to be back in by the 15th of June. At this time I had not found another teaching position. Then late in August I found a teaching position in Union City, Ohio, and as you know school started in Perry County in the middle of August. I had taught approximately a week at Leatherwood when I received the position in Ohio. I then called Mr. Wooton and made an appointment with him for that afternoon. I kept the appointment and asked him if I could be released from my contract and went on to explain my reasons for wanting to be released. Mr. Wooton replied, "Yes Bill, I think we can accept your resignation, but I will have to contact the board members first." He did this and I was released.

To Mrs. Della Riddle, mother of the deceased David Riddle, I would like to apologize to you and your family for all the heartaches which you have suffered as a result of the renewal of publicity of David's tragic death.

Favors Fire Truck Idea

Hazard Herald,
Hazard, Ky.

Dear Sirs:

Your editorial about saving Hazard's oldest fire truck brought forth an excellent idea. This truck is now an antique. It can easily be restored to a running condition to where it can be used in parades and for show purposes. Someone in Indiana has shown an interest in it and offered to buy it. No doubt he or they have an idea.

We have the truck and by all means let's keep it. It will take a little money to repair and repaint it. A storage place is a MUST. By a little effort on the part of all the citizens of Hazard with donations of one, two, three, five, ten or more dollars we can raise the funds necessary. John Evans Bowling at Citizens Bank has agreed to act as treasurer of the funds donated and to see that they are properly used.

Why not have your paper run a little form which could be cut out and mailed with a check to Mr. Bowling, and from time to time print the names of the donors? The Lions Club has indicated it will give $50.00. Individuals have indicated they will help. Any amount from $1.00 up will help. I am for the plan and am sending a check for $25.00 to Mr. Bowling today.

G. C. WILSON

Hazard Herald, I am for the idea of saving the fire truck and my check for $_____ payable to John Evans Bowling is attached hereto. I want to be counted.

BOOK REVIEW

"FLOOD"

by Robert Penn Warren

A small southern town prepares to die—doomed to be flooded by the construction of a new dam. Around this dramatic event, the author of All The King's Men has woven a compelling drama of place and people; of a successful movie writer drawn back to his home to confront the past which haunts him; of his friend, a brilliant movie producer who seeks redemption of the talent he thought he had sacrificed; and of a girl tied by guilt to the husband who is paying the penalty for a murder she caused. A powerful story, one of Warren's best.

"THE KEEPERS OF THE HOUSE"

by Shirley Ann Grau

In this sensitive novel of the south today, a brilliant writer explores the complex relationships between Negroes and whites in a small Louisiana town. Through the story of a prosperous white farmer, his Negro mistress and the repercussions of their love on their children and the town, Miss Grau probes the tensions and hate and fear which lie beneath racial conflict and produces a novel of compassion and overwhelming truth.

Herald-ings

by Martha M. Nolan

We have been absent from the Herald pages lately simply because we have had so much talent to do the job for us. Now that Ben and Oscar are gone, you will probably have to read or see this column regularly.

We have been taking pictures now for quite some time of the homes in our county, and hope to use one each week with a brief statement about the family.

Our first home is that of Mr. and Mrs. Lonzo Hurt on Duane Mountain, near Bula. Mr. and Mrs. Hurt have reared four children, namely, Mrs. Howard Lusk, Mrs. Sherman Mayo, Mrs. H. B. Noble and son, all of whom graduated from Hindman High.

Mrs. Noble also graduated from the Louisville General Hospital, Mrs. Mayo from Bryant and Stratton Business College, Louisville, and the son attended the University of Kentucky and is now employed in drilling for off-shore oil somewhere in New Mexico.

You may wonder why this family was selected to write about. One reason is to show that if one has what it takes working in the mines can be very rewarding.

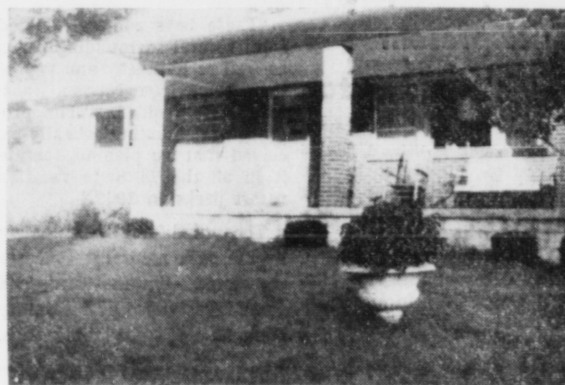

Mr. Hurt, who is now a retired miner, worked and educated his family, retaining enough of his wages to build a beautiful three bedroom brick home and acquire a nice tract of land for a garden and hobbies, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurt are not idle by any means just because they are retired. Her home is the last work in beauty and taste, and she has a cupboard filled with food raised and canned by them. She opened a trunk and showed us the beautiful handmade quilts that are worth a small fortune.

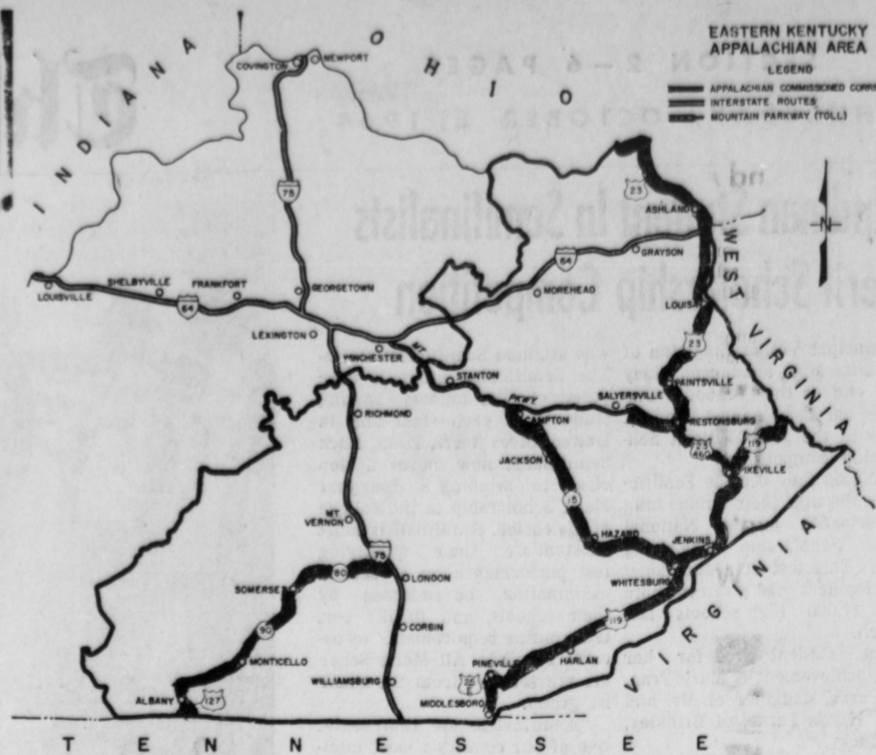

Mr. Hurt worked for many years for the Hardburly mines as a machine man. Mrs. Hurt also worked, having a small business in Hindman.

These people are an example of what can be done if one is willing to work and take advantage of their opportunities. The old Ben Franklin idea of Thrift is "not what we earn but what we save that counts."

The Hurt home has been an inspiration for several other fine homes in the area which we will write about from time to time.

The Roads Kentucky May Lose

Outlined in heavy black in the above illustration are the Kentucky highways that would have been improved or rebuilt with funds from the Appalachian Bill which was left unpassed in the wake of Congress' adjournment last week. Perry County suffered a particular loss through the bill's failure because extension of the Mountain Parkway from Jackson to Whitesburg had top priority in the Kentucky Highway Department. The bill would have provided immediate funds for immediate work on the extension, funds the State may not find from another source for years. Also note the planned improvements of U.S. 119 from West Virginia to Middlesboro which were delayed by the bill's failure.

EDITORIAL

Appalachia's Loss

Eastern Kentucky is lamenting this week the failure of Congress to pass the Appalachian Recovery Bill, and with good cause. Riding on that bill were the hopes of thousands of Eastern Kentuckians whose difficult circumstances might have been materially improved by the roads the bill would have provided, by the improved health facilities it would have wrought, or by the job-training it would have made available to thousands of unskilled but ambitious workers.

The bill cleared the Senate two weeks ago by an easy majority, (45-13) and the feeling among the bill's supporters is that it would have eventually cleared the House of Representatives too had the Congressmen not been so impatient to get home for the fall campaign session.

But regardless of the reason, there will be no Appalachian Bill this year, and the vast improvements the bill would have brought to Appalachia will now be delayed indefinitely.

The Kentucky Highway Department had reserved $7 million of state funds to match the Appalachian Bill's federal funds so that contracts could have been let immediately, had the bill passed Congress. The Highway Department is showing more optimism than a lot of other Kentuckians by continuing to hold the $7 million reserve in hopes the bill will be revived and quickly passed when Congress convenes again.

"We're going to hold the (money) in readiness," Highway Commissioner Henry Ward has said. "We still hope the next Congress will pass the Appalachian Bill. Its failure this year was a tragedy for the Kentucky highway program."

The extent to which failure of the bill was a tragedy for Kentucky is evident in the above illustration which shows how Eastern Kentucky stood to gain so immediately and directly from the bill in road-building alone. The Mountain Parkway extension through Hazard to Whitesburg would have been speeded up by perhaps years. Highway 119 from Pike County through Bell County had high priority for improvement, through the bill.

"Our best information was that $20 million to $25 million dollars in federal Appalachian - program money would have been allotted to Kentucky at the start," Ward said. "With this and the $7 million the State had budgeted to provide a start in matching funds, we could have let contracts for $17 million worth of construction work."

Hopes for immediate relief from one of Eastern Kentucky's most pressing problems—poor highways — have been dashed to the ground by the failure of the bill, at least for the time being. The best we can now hope for is that Commissioner Ward's optimism is not unfounded, that the next Congress will revive the Appalachian Bill and quickly pass it.

The Sin of Envy

To Fathers and Mothers who read this paper:

Everywhere we turn people are talking about our teen agers. Let me tell you I thank God my children were brought up in a home where our parents loved God. They lived the Golden Rule before us. And there grew a Peach tree at the edge of our porch Mother would go get a limb, if she took time and she striped us good. Well now the Golden Rule has been removed from the homes. Fathers and Mothers never train their children to love God. Now they train them to get what they can from others and not to give in. I'll tell you parents its a envy spirit that's destroying our people. Its in the homes and its passed on to the children 'til we live in a mad world. It seems as people don't know there is a God in Heaven who loves us all. Mom and Dad if you have a envy Spirit, please ask God to take it out and give you His Spirit of love. If you have trained your child envy Pease go to that child, and tell if you have trained it wrong ask it to please forgive you. Then God will forgive you. May we as people of America get love in our hearts for each other. May we each awake to the coming our Lord. We only have a few hours now to work for Jesus. Let's warn our friends and loved ones to flee from God's wrath to come.

State Makes Application For Expansion Of Food Stamp Program For Additional 17 Counties

The State of Kentucky is making application to the U.S. Department of Agriculture for expansion of the Federal-State food stamp program in an additional 17 counties, Governor Edward T. Breathitt announced today.

Breathitt said the necessary regular source of funds for the requests for inclusion of counties in the food-stamp program have been received and have been recommended to the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the following order:

Owsley, Breathitt, Magoffin, Martin, Knox, Leslie, Menifee, Bell, Elliott, Johnson, Morgan, Edmonson, Letcher, Pike, Carter, Harlan, and Rowan.

All of the counties except Edmonson, the last to apply, are located in Eastern Kentucky, Breathitt said.

The Governor said he has pledged the necessary amount of money from his Contingency Fund to augment funds available from the counties for meeting the administrative costs of the program. Breathitt also said a proposal will be made to the next session of the Kentucky General Assembly to establish a

The main advantage between the food-stamp program and the distribution of surplus foods is the change it brings by adding fresh produce to the diets of the families concerned. Breathitt declared. An important side effect, Breathitt pointed out, is the economic help which it provides for the local community in adding to the amount of money spent in local stores.

Breathitt also said the food-stamp program gives the families more pride and initiative in being able to select their own foods at retail stores of their own choosing.

The Governor pointed to a set of seven economic indicators which have been used in giving the U. S. Agriculture Department the ranking of the 17 additional counties recommended.

He said these were: percentage of public assistance recipients as compared with total population; percentage of persons certified for Agriculture Department surplus foods; percent of families with less than $3,000 annual income; ratio of personal income which is based upon such programs as Federal social security benefits (transfer payments); the 1963 average monthly rate of unemployment in the county, and the percentage of out-migration from the county between 1950 and 1960.

Breathitt said the Agriculture Department will decide which counties will be included in the expansion of the food-stamp program, made possible by passage of the Food Stamp Act of 1964 this month. He pointed to the fact that while reliable statistical factors were used in ranking the counties on the basis of need, the Agriculture Department may also consider other factors.

The Governor said the food-stamp program offers needy families a means of expanding their buying power. Families will be certified on the basis of needs tests which are consistent with the State public assistance program.

Here is how the food-stamp plan operates:

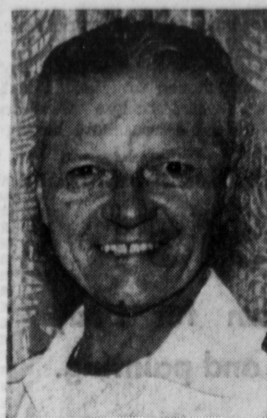

Food-stamps will replace the distribution of Agriculture Department surplus foods in the counties which are approved. The State Department of Agriculture is responsible for arrangements with counties under the surplus food distribution.

The food-stamps are purchased by qualified families at the local public assistance office at a rate of exchange fixed by a scale which compares their total needs with the amount of in-

National Competitive Exam For Naval Training Corps To Be Given Dec. 12

Vice Admiral B. J. Semmes, Jr., Chief of Naval Personnel, has announced that the 19th annual national competitive examination for the Regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps will be given on December 12, 1964. Eligible Kentucky high school seniors and graduates should submit their applications before November 20.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a regular commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice from among the 52 colleges with an NROTC unit. All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the

Captain H. D. Durham

Navy, and the student receives a retainer of $50 a month for not more than four years. During the summers the student goes on interesting training cruises as a midshipman.

After successfully completing a four-year college course, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty as a career officer with the Navy's modern fleets. Immediate challenging assignments to aviation training, nuclear training or submarine training offer varied career opportunities to those graduates who apply and qualify.

A high school senior and graduate who will have reached the 17th but not the 21st anniversary of his birth on June 30, 1965 may apply for the NROTC aptitude test. Applicants who make a qualifying score will be interviewed and given a thorough medical examination early in 1965. From the number of qualified young men remaining in competition, about 2,000 will be selected to attend college next September to prepare for their naval careers.

Application forms are available at local high schools and Navy Recruiting Stations, from the Chief of Naval Personnel, Department of the Navy, Washington, D. C. 20370 or from Captain H. D. Durham, Professor of Naval Science, University of Louisville, Louisville, Ky. 40208.

Children To Be Given Vitamins

Mountain school children whose parents can not afford either a balanced diet or supplemental vitamins will receive immediate and direct aid through a donation of a leading pharmaceutical firm to the Council of the Southern Mountains, it was announced today. Six million vitamin tablets are en route to the mountain workers for distribution through recognized agencies.

come which the family has. (The greater the family's needs and the lower its income, the more food-stamps it will be able to buy with a certain amount of money).

The stamps are exchanged for most kinds of foods at retail stores approved by the Agriculture Department. Excluded items are tobacco, imported foods, and alcoholic beverages.

Merchants, in turn, return the food-stamps to their local banks as a form of collateral.

Applications from the counties which requested food-stamps programs are due at the State Department of Economic Security not later than September 30 under provisions of the Food Stamp Act, Breathitt said.

CHRISTOPHER

Rev. Godsey Holds Revival At Lothair

By Mrs. Ernest Fritts, Sr.

Mrs. Carlen Byrd and daughters, Percilia and Joanne, spent the weekend in Lexington where they attended the Hazard-Lafayette football game.

Miss Karen Fritts spent the weekend in Lexington the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Erwin. Karen attended the Hazard-Lafayette football game.

Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Hahn, of Eminence, Ky., were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fritts, Thursday. They will visit a son, Rev. Raymond Hahn, and family, in High Point, North Carolina, and a daughter, Mrs. Harry Kidd, Mr. Kidd and family, of Hampton, Virginia. Rev. Hahn is a retired minister of the Kentucky Methodist Conference having been active in the ministry for over forty years. He is the brother of Mrs. Fritts.

Mr. Dan Byrd and Matt Fields went to Buckhorn on a hunting trip during the weekend. Too much rain and high waters spoiled the fun. Better luck next time, boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Price, of Haddix, were business visitors in our town Monday.

Rev. Godsey, pastor of the Methodist Church in Booneville, is conducting a revival in the Lothair Methodist Church. Everyone is invited to come and hear him.

Mrs. Harlan Gross and Mrs. Raymond Newberry were co-hostesses with a stork shower at the home of Mrs. Newberry Thursday evening, the honoree being Mrs. Patricia Brewer. After a very enjoyable social hour the guests were served delicious refreshments. Mrs. Brewer was recipient of many lovely and useful gifts.

Folks it looks like of this date that we are really going to have an early fall, this date Sept. 25, 1964 Tug Fields says he saw a slight frost on Big Creek. Nevertheless he fletched in some half runner beans, which I am sure it will be the last for a long, long time. You only have to look at the mountains to see the beginning of the great change in the colors of the leaves. Yes, we are entering into one of the most beautiful color scenes to me that befalls on our mountain areas at this an early season of the year. What the signs are in regard to what many say we are going to have an early fall. This I am somewhat inclined to agree with a lot of our elders of the area. Folks they don't miss it too much. Let me warn you get the winter chores done early this year.

COMPETITION IN THE

Field to what or who is raising the biggest Cushaw. Squash and other late field grown varieties of these type vegetables, one of the most argued about comes from a former state Senator Corbett Brown who claims he is going to set a record for a big squash this year. It seems he is out to beat Wayne Davidson who gave him the seed. Corb says he has one about 41 3/4 inches long at this time. He says if he had any rain it would have been hard to tell just how big it would have grown. Corbett being from the old school of believing that a man should work, he says what is wrong with the world today is that the people have lost the feel of how a hoe or a plow handle fits into your hands to day. Corb, you might have something on this.

BEFORE I FORGET

To tell you fellows just what baits some of the boys are using the Walters Twins as well as Earl Flinchum says they are getting their bass on L. & S. Baits, also RIP Stevens got his limit of four squirrels this past week end. Rip says that is his own personal limit. I think that is fine when a hunter sets his limit of what he can use. Above all that is what I say is the way to preserve the game we have to day. Fellows why not use some discretion in how many you want to kill. Please bear in mind without any seed this year, you will not have any harvest next. Let's think beyond the present trip you are on, do you have a son coming along, you must think of his future.

THIS TYPE OF

Weather has also increased the activity of fishing, this I really know has taken place on our streams. The old prophets such as Mark and Luke Walters have really been doing O.K. on Troublesome creek, they have caught enough bass in the past two weeks to fill an ordinary deep freeze. Also Earl Flinchum up toward the mouth of Leatherwood has been doing alright also am sure that many others up that way are doing likewise. Would like to hear from all of you. The streams of course are cooling off faster than Buckhorn Lake, I predict a great fall fishing season. Of course you must go fishing to catch fish. Squirrel hunting hasn't been bad at all, in fact it was one of the best seasons I have heard of in many a day. Roscoe Walker, Beckman Sizemore and Jim Pratt went to Red River area where they always go, they got their River area where they got their limit for two days and came on back home. Caddie Whitaker over Big Creek way says he has gotten his limit several times this season. Boys which goes to prove that as long as you have the food to offer your wildlife friends, they will reproduce and hunting will be good, let us have an off year in regard to the mast, squirrels
